

2-step verification

An additional layer of protection for your online accounts

What is 2-step verification?

2-step verification adds security to your online accounts, making sure you're the only one accessing them. When necessary, we will send a unique one-time passcode to the email or phone number associated with your accounts. You simply enter that passcode and get access. So even if someone gets your user ID and password, 2-step verification will keep your accounts secure.

Why is this important?

In a world where much of your personal information is online, it's important to protect your privacy and security. 2-step verification ensures that only you can log in to your accounts.

How does this work?

First, you will complete the one-time setup process. When you sign in to a new device or browser or when we need to verify your identity, you'll need to provide the following:

- your user name
- your password
- a 6-digit one-time passcode

This unique code will be sent to you via text, voice call, or email depending on your preference. Each temporary code can only be used once. By entering the code, you're verifying that you are the owner of your accounts.

Things to remember

2-step verification significantly improves the security of your accounts. To help keep your accounts as secure as possible and ensure you never lose access, there are a few simple guidelines you should follow:

- Remember your account passwords.
- Don't reuse the same password for multiple accounts.
- Keep your 2-step verification methods up to date.
- Keep your devices password protected.
