Nebraska Tops Other State Plans In Studies

Two recent publications have ranked Nebraska lowest in the nation in overall retirement plan liability and debt. Barron’s magazine and Moody’s Investors Service have both given our state excellent ratings on how we manage our cash balance and defined benefit plans.

In September, Moody’s published a study on states’ pension liabilities. They ranked states based on their Adjusted Net Pension Liability or ANPL. The ANPL is the difference between the fair market value of a pension plan’s assets and its adjusted liabilities. The three states with the lowest (best) ANPL-to-revenues as of fiscal 2011 were Nebraska at 6.8%, Wisconsin at 14.4%, and Idaho at 14.8%. The three states with the worst numbers were Illinois at 241%, Connecticut at 190%, and Kentucky at 141%.*

Moody’s noted:
“A key reason some states have a high pension burden is that they have consistently underfunded their pensions...

States with the most severe pension burdens all have a long history of contributing less to their pension plans than is actuarially required to maintain sufficient asset levels to pay future pension expenses. To reduce current expenditures and achieve short-lived budget relief, states that underfund simply increase the portion of their liability that must be amortized, resulting in required contributions that become even larger and more difficult to meet.”

In October, Barron’s financial weekly also ranked Nebraska the lowest in the country for pension debt and unfunded liability. Their data, compiled by the investment management firm Eaton Vance, found the state with virtually no tax-supported debt and the lowest unfunded pension liability in the country, at just 0.7 percent.

Barron’s noted that one of the things that helps keep Nebraska’s pension liability low is that it has a cash balance plan. Nebraska’s Cash Balance plan, a cross between a defined benefit plan and a defined contribution plan, is utilized for both the Nebraska State and County retirement plans.

State Treasurer Don Stenberg has launched a new online program available through the State Treasurer’s website at treasurer.org to help Nebraskans better understand state-sponsored 529 college savings plans in general and the Nebraska Educational Savings Trust (NEST) in particular. The new program, launched October 1, is called Nebraska NEST Financial Scholars for Families.

The easy-to-follow, interactive online program was developed by EverFi, an educational technology company based in Washington, D.C. The 30-minute tutorial can be accessed through the Treasurer’s website at treasurer.org. There is no charge. Visitors can return as often as they like to seek answers to specific questions or to review the content.

The program provides basic information about 529 college savings plans including a section on myths vs. facts and a section for users to check their knowledge. Another feature is a calculator that suggests how much a parent or grandparent should be saving based on the child’s age. Audio is provided during part of the presentation.

“Our purpose for offering this program is to provide concise, easy-to-understand information about 529 college savings programs for parents and grandparents and others who may be interested in establishing accounts for children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and friends,” Treasurer Stenberg said.

“We know that many Nebraskans—as well as families across the United States—are not well acquainted with the process for opening a college savings plan, or the tax advantages of state-sponsored 529 college savings plans, or how the beneficiaries can use the accounts. We want to make the system and the process easier for all, with the expectation that even more Nebraskans will discover the value of saving for college through NEST,” Stenberg said.

The Nebraska NEST Financial Scholars for Families program is being supported by the Nebraska Educational Savings Trust, Nebraska’s state-sponsored 529 college savings program. As State Treasurer, Stenberg is Trustee of NEST. State-sponsored 529 college savings programs take their name from Section 529 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code.

NEST has more than $3 billion in assets with 208,000 accounts nationwide. More than 59,000 of those accounts are owned by Nebraskans.

The standard yearly maximum contribution for 2014 is $17,500 for members under age 50. The additional contribution amount for members age 50 or older is $5,500, increasing the total limit to $23,000. DCP is a tax-sheltered retirement plan somewhat similar to a Traditional IRA. It is a long-term investment plan and not intended as a short-term savings account. All state employees are eligible to participate, as are county employees whose employer doesn’t offer a section §457 plan.

Did you know contributing to the voluntary Deferred Compensation Plan (DCP) may reduce your taxes? Low and moderate income employees may be able to significantly reduce their taxes by qualifying for the Federal Saver’s Tax Credit. By making voluntary contributions to an employer sponsored retirement plan (DCP) or individual retirement arrangement (IRA), you may qualify for a maximum credit of up to $1,000 per individual ($2,000 if filing jointly).

This credit only applies for contributions made to voluntary retirement accounts. Eligibility and the amount of the credit are determined by filing status and adjusted gross income (AGI).

For example, a couple filing a joint return with an AGI of $36,000 or less is eligible for the 50% rate. If both contributed $2,000 (or more) to a qualified plan, both would receive the maximum $1,000 Saver’s Credit. If their AGI was a bit higher at $37,000, they move to the 20% bracket and both would receive a $400 credit.

Don’t confuse tax “credits” with “deductions.” A deduction reduces the amount of your taxable income and you pay taxes on the remaining income at a percentage based on the IRS tax brackets. A credit reduces the final amount of taxes you owe dollar for dollar and provides significantly better savings. Even better, contributions made to DCP reduce your AGI and may help you qualify for a higher Saver’s Tax Credit.
